Report

A workshop on " Corona Appropriate Behaviour: Public Health Awareness" was organised by the Department of English BSNVPG COLLEGE LUCKNOW on 24 Dec.2022. Prof. R. D. Dwivedi, Principal of the College, welcomed the Chief Guest Speaker Dr. Roli Seth by presenting the bouquet and memento. Dr. Seth addressed 40 participants of the workshop and emphasized the five fold measures for combating the anticipated onset of the new variant of Corona virus. She assured that with appropriate behaviour the spread of disease can be effectively controlled and there is no need to panic. An awareness regarding importance of use of mask and sanitizer, hand washing, social distancing, booster vaccination and avoidance of unnecessary socialization is a must for present time. Protein rich nutrition and whole fruit intake ought to be all time habit. She also mentioned how India has remarkably dealt with this issue on global level. Dr. Seth concluded with citing the examples from many countries and pressed the point of herd immunity of the Indians.

The participants imbibed her views and promised to work for generating awareness among other groups.

The convenor of the workshop, Prof. Jyoti Kala, and other faculty members, Dr. Neetu Sharma, Dr Udham Singh and Mr Santosh Kumar, expressed their thankfulness to Dr Seth for imparting useful information and motivating the students to work for this important social cause of public health.
